hello
boring

dull birds perch in dull trees

above this very boring
place

On a day like this,
I like coming to the most boring place I can find because you begin to appreciate subtle things, like slight discolouring of the asphalt or a tree's root gently pushing from underneath and then when you do see it is genuinely thrilling.

I love this glove

@dorrismccomics